Red Hat ladies along for the ride

Members of several area Red Hat Society groups were special guests at Fort George and Buckingham House Provincial Historic Site on Saturday, for the site's annual Saskatoon Festival. Dave Stewart of Memory Lane Carriages, Vermilion, volunteered to bring along his shiny stagecoach and stocky Norwegian Fjord horses to offer free rides for the many Festival visitors, with Ross Morris of Lindbergh joining him up on the driver's seat. Town lays down the law for campground use

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Users of campgrounds operated by the Town of Elk Point will have no doubt about the regulations they must follow. Town council approved a new brochure at last Monday's meeting, listing updated fee schedule and regulations that take effect on July 15.

Daily campsite fees Elk Point Recreation Park, with 17 power sites, remain at $20, but increase to $120 per week, with non-power sites at $15, or $90 per week. The eight non-power sites at the River Park rent for $10 per day. Both campgrounds now have a 14-day maximum stay, and must be vacated for a full 24 hours prior to registering in another campsite.

A comprehensive list of regulations includes the information that listed campers are responsible for the actions of all members of their camping party and any visitors to their campsite, and notes that "the maximum number of motor vehicles, recreational vehicles, tents and trailers on a campsite" is three, with only two to be used as sleeping quarters, unless two are tents, in which case there can be two motorized vehicles. No more than six people can occupy a site, unless they are members of a single family unit. Regulations regarding noise, liquor, pets, plants, fossils, wildlife and even historic resources are included in the brochure.

The town also plans to install signs listing the fees and maximum stay at the entrances to the campgrounds.

Council agreed that the campgrounds had been designed and meant for tourists, and felt that a 14-day maximum stay would free up sites for campers attending ball, soccer and golf tournaments, as well as the golf club's 'play and stay' program.

Hiring a person to take care of the town-owned campgrounds and parks is a possibility for next year, and will be brought up during 2011 budget discussions.

Bylaws unchallenged

A pair of public hearings was held for bylaws rezoning the former Elk Point fire hall property for use as a church and the Christian Community Church property as R2 Residential, with no written or verbal objections received on either change. Both bylaws received second and third readings.

Tender approved

A tender submitted by Location Cats Ltd. in the amount of $29,310 was accepted for construction of a new dry pit at the transfer station. Three bids were received for the project.

Here's a profile of our team.

Chad Brears - veteran leader, clean up batter, leading the team with a .558 BA (batting average), and slugging percentage of .977 Pitcher, infielder and centre field.

Evan "Ernie" Joly - third season with the Sox, pitcher and center fielder with a B.A. of .519, a power hitter that leads the team in RBI's with 26. Has a 4.87 ERA (earned run average) pitching with 3 wins and 2 saves and 25 strikeouts

Brett "Bert" Romanovich - quick and agile with a great glove, plays shortstop, has a .353 B.A., leads the team in sac bunts with 7

Tanner Corbeil - very versatile, catcher, third and first base, batting .509, with 20 stolen bases, leads the team with 26 runs scored.

Dustin "Bergie" Berg - pitcher, third base and right field, even with his painful injury-ridden season he is still batting .447

Dylan Berg - lead off batter, leads the team in walks with 18, leads the team in stolen bases with 24. Pitcher with six wins on the season, 4.33 ERA with 35 strikeouts.

"Smoked Joel" Campbell - pitcher with an amazing 1.54 ERA and 19 strikeouts, also catcher and 1st. base with a BA of .391, and team leading 2 home runs.

Greg Brady - heads up second baseman with a great arm and glove also used as a relief pitcher.

Ryan Keefe - big power hitter, left fielder and relief pitcher, BA of .333 with 14 RBI's

Jordyn "Tiger" Wozniak - third base and right fielder, has made many incredible defensive plays this season

Cy "Young" Romanovich - still a first year bantam aged player in his third season on the roster, limited action but is a real team player when called upon, don't doubt his ability, has hit a double and drove in two runs.

Kyle Corbeil - Also a bantam aged player in his second season with the Sox, has three hits and two stolen bases in his limited action

The Sox coaching staff includes manager Doug Bassett, coaches, Remi Joly and Lorn Berg, and bat boy Adam Joly.

Mosquitoes off to Fort McMurray

By DOUG BASSETT

Review Sports

The Midget Sox are not the only one going to the big show this weekend. When we applied to host the midget provincials we also applied to host the mosquitoes, but, call it the luck of the draw, Fort McMurray is a long way to go, and our newly formed Mosquito provincial team is heading there this coming weekend to play in the community league Provincial Tier 2 final. No matter where they play this will be one great experience for them all. Good luck to the youngsters.

Happy Birthday going out today to my number one son, Jordan "Buhner" Bassett. He's the number one reason I started coaching baseball, because he loved to play the game so much, every night after supper, he would say, "hit us some pop flies, Dad" and it's a good thing too, because I have loved being there in the dugout every summer since then.

Here's a little trivia for you: Jordan Bassett was the first of only two Sox players ever to hit a home run out of Bassett Field, and it was on his birthday in 2003 that we won our very first provincial championship. Mark "the Marksman" Letestu was the MVP in that tournament, pitching in the semifinal game which we won over Crownest Pass, and coming in the second inning of the final game against Standard when the Sox were down by seven runs. He shut them down, the Sox would win 13 to 12 and capture their first gold medal. "The Marksman" is going to throw out the first pitch in our opening ceremonies this Friday night at 5:30 right after the Sox' first game. The next day he's getting married!

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week. "May the sun never set on American Baseball." Last weeks answer to: "Sometimes in this game, it's as good to be lucky as it is to be good. Vida Blue. Do you have a sports scoop? Now you can email them to sportshound007@hotmail.com

Elk Point residents are reminded that keeping back lanes and boulevards behind and in front of property tidy is the responsibility of the property owner or tenants. Notices to that effect will be sent out with water bills.

Celebrating community spirit

The town did not have its own float in the Canada Day parade, but instead pulled the chamber's miniature train station replica. Councillors were disappointed when they arrived at the parade lineup and did not find the anticipated town float waiting for them. "There will be a town float from now on," Mayor Parrish Tung assured them, "we will build a permanent float and go from there." The float is expected to be ready for the St. Paul Rodeo parade.

Seventeen enjoy 'Scrappin' Back for Jake'

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Seventeen scrapbooking enthusiasts from as far away as Camrose and Lloydminster took part in "Jake's Scrappin' Back," a weekend fundraiser for five-year-old leukemia victim Jake Fontaine.

Jean Ockerman, one of three organizers of the event, said $2,264 was raised to assist the Fontaine family, through "100 per cent of the registration fees and raffles and a percentage of the supply orders." Nine area businesses assisted by donating draw prizes and other contributions to the event. Robbi Allen and Carla Ganske also were part of the organizing team.

"Small town people are so good," Ockerman commented. "Everyone gives a little, and it adds up to make a real difference."

In addition to the money raised, Jake and his family will be receiving 19 scrapbook pages the participants made just for him, that mom Stacey "will just be able to pop his pictures into," Ockerman noted.

An encouraging e-mail received from Stacey Fontaine during the weekend cheered participants with the news that Jake is doing well and had been off his pain medication for three days.

Another fundraiser is underway today. A Mary Kay facial event organized by Patty Crawford starts at 3 p.m. this afternoon at Wally's Restaurant, and Crawford is hoping for a full house of 80 participants for the evening.

Kathleen Coulter (seated), winner of the 2008 Saskatoon Festival pie bake-off, was back to claim another first prize at the age of 93, and says she hopes to continue being involved with the event. Little Remington Reynolds, held by mom Loree, picked up the second prize for his grandma, Doris Reynolds. In the back row are judge Bernice Capjack, dessert and preserve contest winner Lavinia Yaceyko and judges Edith Zawadiuk and RCMP Cst. Rodriguez. Radio personality Jena Bassett and Laverne Wilson also helped determine the winners.

Ethnohistorian and writer Bob Beal was a special guest at this year's Saskatoon Festival. Beal is very knowledgeable about the 1885 Northwest Rebellion, and spoke about Chief Big Bear and the Frog Lake connection to that event. Beal claims Big Bear was wrongly convicted of treason and in fact, saved lives at Frog Lake and Fort Pitt during the Rebellion's darkest days.

A new era for provincials

Elk Point is hosting their first-even Tier 1 Midget Provincial Championship this weekend. This community is no stranger to hosting provincial championships, in both ball and hockey, but this is definitely a step up to the big time, as Tier 1 provincials usually go to much larger communities.

Elk Point is fortunate to have the facilities and the volunteer power available to be able to host an event of this caliber at short notice, since host locations are determined mere weeks before the provincials are held.

It is indeed an honour to have the best athletes of their age group from across Alberta coming to play on our diamonds. Elk Point and surrounding area has a large contingent of fans, ranging from preschoolers to senior citizens, who are eager to take in the games and cheer on the teams, all season long, and for them, provincials are just icing on the cake.

A warm Elk Point welcome to all those who come to play or support the province's top players. We hope you will enjoy your stay in our community, and will come back and see us again soon.

Way Back When...

Reunion, wild horses, decision

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF JULY 20 IN...

1985

Heinsburg School held a grand reunion of students from 1933 to 1960, under the enthusiastic leadership of Joyce Nychporuk and Laverne Wilson, with some coming from as far as Hawaii for the occasion and the school's first teacher, Harold White, among those in attendance. Over 600 well-wishers turned out to help Bertha and Chester Botting celebrate their 50th anniversary.

1990

Crop prospects were poor, with showers too scattered to be helpful to drought-plagued crops. Elk Point Saddle Slickers took the lion's share of the awards at the St. Paul District 4-H Light Horse show with Tanya Kenyon named grand champion and senior high point, Matt Veer reserve champion and junior high point and Pamela Veer peewee high point.

1995

A huge crowd lined Sergeant Hall Park and the north side of the street in Tullibee Lake for a homecoming parade led by a 150-head wild horse drive, Joe Brind's chuckwagon and outriders, and flag bearers Bill Nelson, Leonard Parke, Doug Cook and Doug Ward. Elk Point Christian Community Church celebrated the end of their first successful year with a potluck feast and entertainment.

2000

Northern Lights Library System made the final decision to accept the former Pan Canadian building in Elk Point as their new headquarters, after more than a year of discussion. The final count was in, and Elk Point Emergency Services was happy to present STARS Air Ambulance with $13,138.47 from their golf tournament.

2005

More campsites, walking trails and benches were listed as the priorities for the Town of Elk Point's Sponsorship 2005 funding. Longtime local softball enthusiasts Bernice Capjack and Isabel Myshaniuk performed the ceremonial first pitch as Elk Point hosted the Bantam D Softball Provincials.

GUEST COLUMN

Ground effect

Some may ask, "What does the term "ground effect" mean? The answer to this question is best illustrated in a story about two outdoor enthusiasts who hired a bush plane to fly them to a remote lake for their annual fishing trip. Following a successful outing, the pilot returned to retrieve them. However, he quickly informed the fishermen that his small plane would not support them, their equipment, and the added weight of the fish they had caught. A second flight would be required. Now, the sportsmen were not interested in paying for a second round-trip. So after a promise to pack tightly and a small bonus payment, the pilot reluctantly agreed to attempt the flight. The fishermen grinned knowingly as the pilot forced the aircraft into the air. However, seconds later the plane stalled and crashed into a large, flat swampy area at the end of the lake.

from the FCSS desk

The plant had stalled as it flew because of a well-known phenomenon called "ground effect." Ground effect is created when air is compressed between the aircraft's wings and the earth's surface – when they are in close proximity. In this case, as the bush plane inched its way upward out of ground effect, it was required to fly on its own power, which it simply could not do. Fortunately there were no serious injuries, and after regaining their senses, one of the fishermen asked the other, "What happened?" The second replied, "We crashed on takeoff – about a hundred yards (91m) from where we ended up last year!"

This story can be likened to taking time to enjoy summer holidays. The term "ground effect" in this case can be described as one's ability to set aside routine and enjoy the moment of doing something different. If we have to take our computers, our lap tops, our ipods, the DVD players, our cell phones or anything else that is associated with our daily routines, we will soon discover these items will be weighing us down and preventing us from enjoying something new and different. In other words, the something new and different cannot be introduced. We aren't able to rise above

"the ground effect". Like the two fishermen, we didn't learn the lesson. If you want to fly, leave something behind!

Speaking of summer holidays or summer vacations, millions of people around the country have strategized about how best to spend their time off. They're doing so, experts say, at a time when work and family demands are escalating, squeezing the amount of vacation time that people take and intensifying their expectations of it. Many see vacations as a chance not only to relax but also to learn about themselves, meditate on the direction of their lives and address personal problems, surveys show. And as often as not they return disappointed – feeling as much in need of time off as before.

When taken regularly through a working life, time off can be good medicine – physically and emotionally. In a 2000 study of 12,338 middle-aged men at risk for heart disease, researchers at the State University of New York in Oswego found that those who did not take regular vacations were more likely to die over a nine-year period than those who did, especially from heart problems.

Several smaller workplace studies confirm the short-term benefits. People tend to sleep better after more than a week off, have fewer physical complaints than they did before the break, and report being more optimistic and energetic than they were before.

The need for a break seems greater than ever. American workers today put in three and a half hours more per week than they did in the 1970s, according to the Families and Work Institute, a nonprofit research center in New York that conducts ongoing national surveys. Couples, with or without children, report working about 10 hours more a week combined than they did in the 1970s. In a 2001 study, the institute found that 26 per cent of workers do not use all their yearly vacation time, usually because of job demands. And a 2002 survey of 1,892 tourists found that three per cent of them report feeling such responsibility to their jobs that they have headaches, fatigue and nausea when they're away for more than a few days – a phenomenon the Dutch psychologist Ad Vingerhoets calls "leisure sickness," a combination of guilt about being away and dread of what crises are filling the in-box.

So no matter how we describe the importance of taking vacations, we need to leave something behind to rise above the "ground effect". Enjoy your summer holidays everyone! It's important!

Alice Gregor enjoys 90th

By Carolyn Fakeley
Review Contributor

On Saturday June 12, about 125 family, friends, and neighbors gathered in Heinsburg Community Hall to celebrate the 90th birthday of Alice Gregor. Alice has lived her whole life in Heinsburg and area, so it was only fitting to celebrate this milestone with the community. We had attendees from Swift Current, Cutknife, Grande Prairie, Drayton Valley, Okotoks to name a few. Marie Zayac and Carolyn Fakeley (Alice's nieces) had been working on the event for several months and were very pleased with how it came together. The hall looked very festive and the food was plentiful.

Brendan Dolan (Alice's nephew) was MC for the afternoon. Greetings and certificates were presented by County Councillor Glen Ockerman and Marjorie Scott, president of Heinsburg Community Club, of which Alice has been a member for 54 years. Other certificates from government officials including the Governor General, the Prime Minister, MP, Lieutenant Governor, Premier, and MLA were presented by Brendan. MLA Ray Danyluk dropped by later in the afternoon to personally bring greetings to Alice.

Musical entertainment was provided by Alvin Womacks and Lane Scott.

Alice was joined at the head table by long time friend Doug Wilson, sister Janet, brother Jim and his wife Alfreda, and sister in law Janet. Brother Donald was unable to attend due to health reasons.

It was a wonderful afternoon with a lot of people getting reacquainted. Several of these people had not seen each other or been back to the area for a lot of years.

Alice went home very tired but very happy with the whole day and the number of people who chose to spend a beautiful summer day with her.

We can now start planning for the 100th!!

THANK YOU

Thank you to the Poitras / Lawrence families, to our neighbors, friends and co-workers for your prayers, charitable donations, calls, food, flowers, gift baskets and all your kindnesses at the time of Rick's passing. Special thanks for all the love and support you gave Brenda. In lieu of thank you cards, we have made a donation to cancer.

Elk Point Library

The TD-funded Summer Reading Program is well underway and welcoming newcomers and walk-ins to the program. We have started a summer reading road which has encouraged the participants to keep up with their reading skills over the summer. Along with the reading road, the kids have been making various crafts and playing games. We would like to encourage kids of all ages to stop by the library and register today to join us in our adventures of "Destination Jungle."

Elk Point rocks at Mockteerah EP release

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Three excellent bands rocked the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre on Friday night, in celebration of Mockteerah's hot-off-the-press EP.

Canada Day Idol Mason Smith and Angel Down, a band that includes Colton Hymanyk, Tyler Fodchuk and Jordan Mudryk on drums, started off the show with a half hour set featuring their new song, 'Cold Hearted.'

Vermilion's Bricktop proved to be an extreme crowd-pleaser, and led an enthused MC Colin Bjorkman to proclaim, "Rock and roll is alive and well!"

The main attraction, however, was Mockteerah, a dynamic group led by Josh Boyko, who Bjorkman said, "got on the F. G. Miller stage in Grade 8 with his first band." A year later, Colin Ference made his first appearance at FGM's Sound Dragons. "Who knew that they would form this band and be playing at the Arts and Leisure Centre?" Bjorkman reminisced. Newer additions Sean Joly on bass and Cody Fedun on drums complete the band, whose name is an Irish word meaning, "Sons of the Land."

Selections from the new EP, including "The Long Kiss Goodnight," were enthusiastically received by their fans.
